

Conference: NON-IDEAL Stockholm SOCIAL ONTOLOGY May 19th-20th, 2016

May 19th

10-10.30 Coffee

10.30-11.00 Welcome and introduction

Katharine Jenkins, Åsa Burman and Staffan Carlshamre

11.00-12.00 Åsa Burman (Stockholm University)

A taxonomy of social facts

Commentator: Dan López de Sa (ICREA, University of Barcelona)

12.00-13.30 Lunch

13.30-14.30 Eyja M Brynjarsdóttir (University of Iceland)

The ontology of money

Commentator: Staffan Carlshamre (Stockholm University)

14.30-15.00 Coffee

15.00-16.00 Mari Mikkola (Humboldt Universität)

Feminist Metaphysics as Non-Ideal Metaphysics

Commentators: Åsa Burman and Katharine Jenkins

Conference dinner

May 20th

9.30-10.30 Esa Díaz-León (University of Barcelona)

Sexual orientations: The desire view

Commentator: Robin Dembroff (Princeton University)

10.30-11.00 Coffee

11.00-12.00 Staffan Carlshamre (Stockholm University)

Between Nature and Culture

Commentator: Johan Brännmark (Malmö University)

12.00-13.30 Lunch

13.30-14.30 Katharine Jenkins (University of Cambridge)

Ontic injustice

Commentator: Åsa Carlson (University of Gävle, Stockholm University)

Optional sightseeing activity and dinner.

Stockholm University

By 'non-ideal social ontology', we have in mind social ontology that starts with difficult, complicated cases of immediate importance to social theory, rather than starting from simplified or abstracted examples and deferring consideration of more messy phenomena. Our thinking is that just as critical philosophers of race such as Charles Mills have made a case for the importance of non-ideal political philosophy, non-ideal social ontology could play an important role in advancing emancipatory social theory.

Organized by Katharine Jenkins & Åsa Burman
Sponsored by Department of Philosophy, Stockholm University

Questions? Please contact: asa.burman@philosophy.su.se

Location: Aula Magna, Polstjärnan
Stockholm University, campus

Poster art and design by Burman Design