

05-
06
MAY

Foto: Erik Angner

Workshop on Happiness, Virtue, and the Meaning of Life

Keynotes by Jennifer A. Frey (University of South Carolina) and Candace Vogler (University of Chicago). Presentations by Anna Alexandrova (Cambridge University), Erik Angner (Stockholm University), Dale Dorsey (University of Kansas), Kirsten Egerstrom (Southern Methodist University), Kaisa Kärki (University of Jyväskylä), Antti Kauppinen (University of Tampere), Jennifer Lockhart (Auburn University), Jason Raibley (California State University), Raffaele Rodogno (Aarhus University), Joshua Lewis Thomas (University of Sheffield), Willem van der Deijl (Erasmus University) and Sam Wren-Lewis (Leeds University).

This two-day workshop aims to close the gap between empirical and philosophical approaches to questions of happiness, virtue, and the meaning of life, in the interest of encouraging the development of an empirically informed philosophy and a science with philosophical awareness. Organizers: Erik Angner and Mats Ingelström.

FREE ADMISSION ▶ Time and place: Friday and Saturday 5–6 of May, in the William-Olsson lecture hall (Geovetenskapens hus).
www.philosophy.su.se/happiness-virtue-meaning-of-life

Department of Philosophy

in collaboration with the project "Virtue, Happiness, and the Meaning of Life" which is made possible by a generous grant from the John Templeton Foundation.

Stockholms
universitet